Key Insights

- The overall student body demonstrates high academic performance, with a narrow GPA range of 9.6 to 9.9 and an average of 9.74.

- Pooja Ravichandran holds the highest GPA of 9.90 (admitted in 2019), closely followed by Arun Murthy at 9.89 (admitted in 2024), indicating consistent high achievement across cohorts.
- The distribution of average GPA across different departments appears to be relatively uniform, as indicated by the pie chart (assuming no extreme outliers).
- Enrollment spans across five admission years, suggesting a healthy influx of new students annually.
- The trend of average GPA over admission years can reveal patterns of academic success in newer versus older cohorts.

Recommendations

- Recognize and celebrate students with consistently high GPAs, such as Pooja Ravichandran and Arun Murthy, through awards or scholarships.
- Analyze the teaching methodologies or academic support systems in departments that exhibit the highest average GPAs to identify best practices.
- Monitor average GPA trends across admission years to identify any shifts in student academic readiness or curriculum effectiveness over time.
